

Funding your Binance.us Account

Once you login to your Binance.us account you will need to click on Deposit button shown below.

Next, you will need to deposit funds from a crypto wallet of your choice. Here is an image showing you where to make your deposit.

Next type the word “btc” into the search box to select the coin that you want to deposit.

\ You can deposit via any coin that Binance.com allows which will usually have lower fees, but for the purpose of the deposit instructions, we are using the most common.*

Copy the BTC wallet address and paste it into whatever BTC wallet you currently have. If your wallet allows you to scan a QR code you may do that.

After the BTC deposit is in your Binance.us account you will need to convert it into USDT. This is done by clicking “Trade” then “Market”.

Here is where you need to select “USD🇺🇸-Markets” in the upper 4 tabs above the coin pairs. Next look for the row that shows “BTC/USDT” and click the “Trade” button at the end of the BTC/USDT row.

You will be taken to the trade console in order to convert your BTC to USDT. Follow these steps to convert... Arrow 1) Select the Sell button (it is on "Buy" by default. Arrow 2) Select "Market", (it is default on "Limit"). Arrow 3) This is a slider...simply slide from left to right to select how much BTC you want to convert. Normally you just move it to 100% (all the way right). Arrow 4) Click "Sell BTC". Now your funds are converted to USDT.
